We of this coast, and of these colonies in particular, are generally speaking, too much occupied with matters that more immediately concern us to be able to give more than a passing glance at the progress of reform in the governmental institutions of European countries. Cosmopolitan though many of us be in some respects, the magnitude of the task before us has a tendency to circumscribe our field of view. The necessity for inaugurating and perfecting the institutions o these young countries, so as to contribute to the success of our future, confines our interest for the most part to things near a The restless, feverish state of ex istence prevalent in gold countries, is also not without its all-absorbing effects. Neverthe less, we may learn much from more extended views of human institutions and the changes that are daily taking place among them. We have no need to cease the study of history when the education of our youth has ceased Our schoolroom and our books only are changed. Both are in the active world around us. The continuation of the lesson of our youth goes on. While we live and move nations that were thought dead or in the last stages of decline, are springing into new life and vigor. Amongst the mos remarkable events of the last few years are the political revival of Italy the new vigor that has infused Of the former we shall not at present speak. The events that have placed her in her present position hav been of too stirring a character not to attract our notice: They have forced themselves upon us. War, and its fields of carnage revolutions, and the overthrow of petty dy nasties, spoke, and we were compelled to listen. It has been, otherwise, however, with Spain. Her we have been accustomed to look upon as effete, as almost gone beyond the power of revivification. It was though nothing, could rescue her from the ignoble position of perhaps a third-class power. But the public out of Spain have been mistaker She has been growing while she was thought beyond it. During the last ten years especially, her progress has been extremely rapid. This we may safely attribute to the long reign of power held by the Ministry of O'Donnell-one of the most intelligen and energetic men of the age. All that Spain really wanted was a good Government-one which, while maintaining internal peace was calculated to keep pace with the wants and institutions of the age. That she has had, and prosperity has followed. The latest statistics we can find relative to the population of Spain are those derived from the report of the Spanish Statistical Com mission of 1856, given in the Home and Foreign Review. According to this authority Public Auction, the population amounted in 1857 to 15,464,300 in 1797 it was 10,540,221; at present it cannot, be far from 17,000,000. Up to the present time the principal occupation of the popula tion has been agriculture-seventy-five out of every hundred being engaged in that branch. The agricultural classes too would seem to be on a favorable footing compared with those of the rest of Europe, judging from the number of farms cultivated by proprieters and the land tax produced. Moderate sized farms prevail. Where the greatest division prevails there is found the most wealth Out of 3,400,000 farms of all sizes, about 750,000 are cultivated by tenants, and the rest by the proprietors. The annual revenue from real estate taxation has now amounted for some years past to the sum of 4,000,000, 000 reals, in 1847 it was 322,000,000. In grain, the annual production is now about double what it was in the beginning of the century. The causes of this agricultural progress are attributed more especially to the in crease of the population, and the improved means of communication—the one affording labor, and the other bringing markets within the reach of all. In this respect Spain has resembled a new country; The vast progress already made and still making in railway enterprises in the country, have produced the country, have produced the country for the state of the country for the state of the st same effects as elsewhere. Commerce, mansame effects as elsewhere. Commerce, man-ufactures, agriculture, and money—all are in-creased. The commerce of the nation seems creased. The commerce of the nation seems to have experienced a very rapid growth of late years. In 1843 the exports and imports amounted to 786,600,000 reals—in 1860 they had increased to 2,581,000,000—an increase of 350 per cent. in seventeen years.

In shipping, the same improvement is visible. According to the writer in the above periodical, in 1843 the maratime movement of periodical, in 1843 the maratime movement of periodical in 1843 the mara Spain was 9828 ships and 1,050,488 tons, of toria, with a good road thereto. 1000 killogrammes. In 1858 the number of ships, exclusive of the ccasting trade, was 23,238, of 3,031,534 tons. With the increase of her commercial marine, of course one is prepared for that of the Spanish navy. Nothing has more surprised the statesmen of Europe than the suddenness with which the latter has sprung into existence. Nor is it likely to be behind the age for efficiency. Some of the most eminent ship-builders of England have been and are now engaged in 1 Acre each. building iron-clade for the Spanish Government. These are all armed with rifled can non of the Blakely pattern. Nor does this growth of a navy imply debt. The budget for 1862 shows a revenue of 2,031,000.000 reals against an expenditure of 2,211,000,000 reals. This, too, notwithstanding the Mexican expedition, and the war in Cochin China. We find the same general improvement visible in mining and manufactures. Under the former head it appears that the increase of iron had risen from 9,000,000 kil's in 1797 to 41,000,000 in 1860; that of copper, from 15,000 to 2,704,000; that of zinc from 125,-000 to 1,853,000 per annum. Besides the large amount of iron produced by her own mines, Spain imported foreign iron to the amount of 65,872,000 kils. in 1858, against 6,359,000 kils. in 1846, indicating a vast increase in manufacturing activity. The statistics relating to the manufacture of textile fabrics are not as complete as could be desired. It appears, however, that the manufacture of cotton has had quite a large increase within the last twelve years. In 1846 the quantity of raw cotton imported was 7,045,000 kils and in 1858 it had gone up to 21,406,192, or more than triple the amount. The figures given under the above various heads exhibit all the elements of a certain revival of material prosperity in Spain. Should the sintinue thus to advance there can be no doubt but that she will, before long, ones more resume her place as one of the great powers of Europe.

POSTAL MATTERS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The British Columbian Government seem to be in no hurry to make any change in the present arrangement for postal service in hat colony. The programme of the move ment of the mails under last year's contrac still appears in the Gazette. Everything, in fact, seems to remain in statu quo. Why such a farce should continue to be perpetrated i more than we can conceive. If the Government do not intend that postal matters shal this year be on a better footing in the upper country than they have been hitherto, the should make the public aware of it. They should no longer have a system paraded before then which is not carried out. It would be fa more honorable to make no pretense of trans porting mails to the mines, than have things as they have been up to this. If we mu depend wholly upon the Expressmen, the coner we know that fact the better. But there is no need of this, if the Government will only do their duty. The task for them to perform has no difficulties that would prove insurmountable to any ordinary man of business.

The condition of the country has change so much during the last year that the greatest obstacles to efficient mail communication have disappeared. This fact and the fac of a large increase of settlers in the uppe country, and the rapid development of the mines ought to spur the Executive to make every exertion for providing the colony with Ex "Jenny Ford," from Honolulu. a proper mail system. Nothing less than this is due to those who are building up the country through their labors and privations. Among the latter the fact of not being able to receive regularly or at all, their papers and letters is not the least. This should be the RICE, equal to Carolina......31 KEGS. case no longer. The season has now opened and all the necessary arrangements for remedying deficiencies in the postal department should be completed without further delay. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

SUMMONSES FOR WAGES .- William Bolton proprietor of the ship-yard on the Indian Reserve, appeared yesterday morning before the Police Magistrate, to shew cause why he should not pay the sum of $36 25 to a man named John Collins, the value of labor upor the steamer Emily Harris when she was under repair. The defendant acknowledged the debt, but stated that he could not discharge it until after he had been paid by the proprietor of that steamer. The plaintiff said that he believed the defendant would pay if he had the money, and that his object in instituting these proceedings was more to reach the party who was indebted to Mr. Bolton. Mr. Pemberton made an order in favor of the plaintiff, with costs. The case of another workman who claimed $10 tor was from Mr. Belton was then heard. wages from Mr. Bolton was then heard. The wages from an Jordon was then neard. The defendant pleaded an agreement to the effect that the men were not to have been paid in full until the Rosedale had been got on the ways, but could produce no proof. The plaintiff denied any agreement. The Magister was the wages with the plaintiff denied any agreement. trate granted the amount with costs, allowing ten days for payment.

DRAMATIC PERFORMANCE.—The amateur performance at the Victoria theatre came off last evening to the entire satisfaction of a crowded and fashionable audience. Buckstone's amusing farce of "Good for Nothing" was represented, with Mr. Rushton as Tom Dibbles, and Mr. Godfrey Brown as Harry Collier. These gentlemen were really very good in their respective parts, and with Mille. Lameroux were called before the cuttain at the close of the piece. Mr. Palmer's solo on the Harmonicorde was very fine, and Mille. Lameroux danced most gracefully. The screaming farce of "Betsey Baker" excited great laughter, and brought the entertainment to an end amidst great applause. The performance was highly successful throughout, and must have realized a handsome sum for the Rayal Hasnital fund. the Royal Hospital fund. FOR NEW WESTMINSTER-The Steame

Enterprise sailed for New Westminster last night, having a large number of passengers on board, bound for the mines. Unless the Mail steamer, now due, brings an influx of miners, we fancy the passenger traffic will not be very great to New Westminster for some time, as most of those wintering here, who intend leaving for British Columbia, are now gone. There could not have been less than sixty pack mules on board, and the vesel's hold was crammed with grain and

BUTE INLET .-- At a meeting of the Bute Inlet Wagon Road Company held yesterday afternoon, attended by a numerous and highly respectable portion of the shareholders, it was decided that the enterprise should be substantially supported. In consequence, Mr. Alfred Waddington will leave for Bute Inlet very shortly, at the head of a large number of laborers, to complete the mule trail, which he hopes to effect in about six or eight weeks. VICTORIA THEATRE.-The Orrin family have postponed their departure till the steamer of the 21st instant, and will give two more performances before they leave. On Thursday evening the entertainment will be for the benefit of George and Edward Orrin, on which occasion there will be some new feats presented on the double trapeze. Saturday evening will be the last appearan of this talented troupe of artists here the WHARF LIGHTS .- There were several additional lights on the H. B. Co.'s wharf last night before the sailing of the Enterprise. This certainly shows a disposition to serve those who have business to go to the steamer, and if there were only a few more lamps placed inside the shed and on the deck of the vassel there would be no danger whatever of people meeting with accidents in their haste to get on board.

GONE TO CARIBOO .- Mr. Robert Dexter, who came down here from Cariboo about two months since, was to leave last night by the Enterprise for Williams Creek, where he hells an interest in Barker's claim. During his stay in Victoria he made many warm friends who regret his departure, but hope to see him return again at no distant date with his fortune made.

PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY .- At a meeting of this society held on Saturday afternoon, for the purpose of choosing a musical conductor against the Ordinance in luture. No one the purpose of choosing a musical conductor, a gentleman objected to the election being proceeded with on the grounds of the members not having been duly notified upon the matter. The meeting accordingly adjourned that notice be given of the time the election was to take place.

NEW WORK .- Messrs, A. Roman & Co., of San Francisco, have sent us a new work on the geography and resources of Arizona and Sonora. The book is neatly got up and contains an excellent outline map of the districts mentioned. There is a great deal of useful mining and other news in relation to the country contained in the work, and it will well repay one for taking up the time in perusing it.

IMPROVEMENTS AT RICHFIELD.—We understand that a contract has been entered into with a party at Richfield, to erect a saloon and bowling alley in the town, the whole to cost close on $10,000. This looks as if there was confidence in the permanency of the mines in that locality.

DISCHARGING .- The brig T. W. Lucas and barks D. W. Hall and Jenny Ford were discharging their cargoes yesterday. The latter had above 50 mules all apparently in good order and condition.

CHANGE OF PROPRIETORSHIP .- It will be seen by advertisement that Mr. Edward R. leaving

MONDAY, April 13th, 1963.

A meeting of this body took place yester-day evening, commencing at 7:20. Present, His Worship the Mayor, and Councillors Copland, Stronach, Lewis, Hicks, and Scarby. THE MEETING IN THE THEATRE.

THE MEETING IN THE THEATRE.

Upon the minutes of the last meeting being read Mr. Lewis suggested that with regard to the vote upon the expenses of the public meeting on the subject of the Trades Licenses By-law, the ayes and noes should be recorded—as he had voted neither way, and had had nothing to do with the outlay.

Mr. Copland ebjected on the grounds that such a proposition stoudd have been made at the time.

and that he already paid heavy taxes to the Government and Corporation, amounting to upwards of $400 per annum, and praying

Some discussion ensued, in which Councillor Copland and Searby took part, who admitted the hardship of the case, but argued that the Council could not interfere with the working of the law as it stood.

Received and placed on the table.

THE RAVINE.

A petition, signed by about forty property holders and residents on Johnson street, and in its vicinity, next came up. It represented that the obstruction being caused by certain parties to the water course would arrest the flow of water, and ultimately result injuriously to the public health when the pent up drainage should become stagnant.

Mr. Copland thought it disgraceful that property holders should commit such injury, when so slight an expense would have obvisited the evil of which the petitioners com-reating the nuisance at the next Assizes.

Mr. Hicks moved that the offending parties

Mr. Lewis thought the petitioners had the remedy by an action at law, if their property were injured, and that this was an attempt to involve the Council in a law suit on their behalf.

Mr. Searby thought that the matter might be amicably arranged by a committee being appointed to confer with the proprietors said n amendment to that effect, which was cartronach on the committee. BAY WINDOWS, ETC.

A report from the City Inspector, inform-ng the Council that agreat many complaints vere made of the action of property holders in filling up the ravine, and informing them If the probable results of the same, was then asked for instructions as to the course he should pursue in regard to the same.

Mr. Copland and Mr. Hicks thought it of the Council for instructions, when he had the ordinance to guide his action, and considered that he ought to have summoned the offenders before the Mayor. Mr. Copland especially alluded to the fallacy of allowing persons to do as they pleased in defiance of the City authorities after having been notified; he particularly noticed the stove of Messrs. Curtis and Moore, who had received a verying from the Inspector. warning from the Inspector.

Tribune:
"When the war broke out Gen. Hooker, then in California, came post haste to Washington to offer his services to the govern-General Scott was at the head of the ment. Goneral Scott was at the lead of the military affairs of the country; and between that old gentlemen and General Hooker was a feed dating back to the Mexican war; hence, as everything relating to the army was re-ferred to Scott, Hooker was suffered to apply in vain for even a regimental command. Dis-gusted and mad, he made his preparations to return to the Paeific coast, and was about to start, when the first battle of Bull Run was fought. There was nothing in that to en-courage; so he went up to the White House, read. The communication also referred to be structions on the footpaths such as bay-windows, verandahs-posts, barber-poles, steps, and posts for tying horses, etc., and captain Hooker, and the following was the President, whom he had never seen. He was introduced by some mistake of his friend as Captain Hooker, and the following was the conversation that ensued: Hooker—'Mr President, I was introduced to you as Captain Hooker. I am or was Lieut. Col. Hooker of the regular army. When this war began I was at home, in California, and hastened to make a tender of my services to the government; but my relation to Gen. Scott, or some other impediment, stands in the way, and I see no chance of making my military knowledge and expemaking my military knowledge and experience useful. I am about to return, but before going I was anxious to pay my respects to you, and to express my wishes for your personal welfare and for your success in putting down this infernal rebellion. And I want, while I am at it, to say one thing more: I was at Bull Run the other day, Mr. President, and it is no vanity or boasting in me to you, sir, had on that field!

The President, in repeating this speech, says that he looked at the speaker to see what manner of man he was who made such a boast. 'His eye was steady and clear, his a corner, a few blows terminated at once its a dance and its life. Mr. Hicks then moved that the resolutions, passed in the day of to be transmitted to the Duke of Newcastle, be forwarded to their destination forthwith.

Mr. Lewis asked asked what resolutions were referred to. He should like to hear them read.

Mr. Hicks said that they passel the Council about five months ago.

A good deal of doubt was expressed with regard to them, when Mr. Searby stated that he believed certain resolutions intended to form the basis of a memorial had once been passed, about the time Mr. McClure was leaving.

"Come, William, give something," which is not the cause a good one?" asked he. "Yes, good enough; but I am not able to give anything," answered Bill. "Pooh! Mr. Scarby moved that in future all adver-

Mr. Lewis drew the attention of the Council to the injustice of not compelling default their obligations.

Mr. Searby suggested that the provisions of the Ordinance with respect to the enforcement of the same, as to the suing the defaulters, should be altered, so that proceedings for the recovery of the cost should be taken by the Council instead of the contractor.

Mr. Lewis objected to the Council putting themselves in the way of getting into any law suits.

THE BISHOP OF RIPON ON THE COLENSO CONTROVERSY.—On the 26th the annual meeting of the Yorkshire Church of England meeting of the Yorkshire Church of England Scripture Readers' Society was held at Leeds, the Bishop of Ripon in the chair. His lord-ship, in the course of his remarks, said it was particularly painful to find a man in high of-fice in the church miserably perverting his talents so as to employ them, not for the ad-vancement of divine truth, but rather in disvancement of divine truth, but rather in disparagement of the claims of the inspired. Word of God. For his own part, painful as that spectacle was, he did not anticipate that any very great evil would result from the attempt to which he referred. The objections which had been brought forward against the historical accuracy of the Pentateuch were very old and threadbare; there was nothing new in them. Nor was it difficult to perceive how easily these objections might be disposed of by those who had their minds firmly rooted in the persuasion that the Bible was the inspired Word of God. Let it be borne in mind what the conclusion really was, supposing they took Dr. Colenso's views to be accurate. If his view was a just ene, we may suppose the Pentateuch to be the to be accurate. If his view was a just ene, we may suppose the Pentateuch to be the production of a very clever impostor. If an impostor, the writer of the Pentateuch must have been an exceedingly clever one. But was it to be supposed for one moment that, being such a clever impostor, he would have allowed such palpable absurdities as, if they believed the Bishop to be right, existed in the book? The very openness of the Pentateuch, the matters which lie on the surface of the book, and which Dr. Colenso would have us take as a sufficient ground for doubt, were in themselves a sufficient answer to the objections which had been raised on the point of Dr. M. H. Boscowitz, tions which had been raised on the point of tions which had been raised on the point of historical accuracy. They must also bear this in mind, that every part of the Bible is so interwoven with other parts, that to invalidate any one portion was to throw discredit upon the rest, so that if you undermind the authority of the Pentateuch you would also invalidate the authority of the Prophets, of the historical portions of the Bible, and of the New Testament. Each part so interwings with the rest that to throw discreditions. twines with the rest, that to throw discredit upon one person was to throw discredit upon the whole. If they could successfully six prove the historical accuracy of the Penta teuch, they would scarcely have anything left in the Bible on which the mind could lay hold for peace and comfort, as truth to be re lied upon, as truth saving in its nature. THE AMERICAN PRESIDENT .- Soon wards there entered, with a shambling, loose wates there entered, with a shambling, loose, irregular, almost unsteady gail, a tall, lank, lean man, considerably over six feet in height, with stooping shoulders, long pendulous arms, terminating in hands of extraordinary dimensions, which, however, were far exceeded in proportion by his feet. He was dressed in an ill-fitting, wriakled suit of black, which put one in mind of an undertaker's uniform at a functal, round his needs a round stall that all one in mind of an undertaker's unform at a funeral; round his neck a rope of black silk was knotted in a large bulb, with flying ends projecting beyond the collar of his coat; his turned down shirt collar disclosed a sinewy muscular yellow neck, and above that, nestling in a great black mass of hair, bristling ling in a great black mass of hair, beistling and compact like a ruff of mourning pins, rose the strange quaint face and head, covered with its thatch of wild republican hair, of President Lincoln. The impression produced by the size of his extremities, and by his flapping and wide projecting ears, may be removed by the appearance of kindliness, sagacity, and the awkward bonhomic of his face; the mouth is absolutely prodigious; the lips, straggling and extending almost from one line of black beard to the other, are only kept in order by two deep furrows from the nostril to the chin; the nose itself—a prominent tril to the chin; the nose itself-a prominen organ-stands out from the face, with an in organ—stands out from the lace, with an in-quiring auxious air, as though it was sniffing for some good thing in the wind; the eyes dark, full, and deeply set, are penetrating, but full of an expression which almost amounts to tenderness; and above them projects the shaggy brow, running into the small, hard, frontal space, the development of which can scarcely be estimated accurately, owing to the irregular flocks of thick hair carelessly brushed across it. —Russell's American Diary.

Unconscious Snake Charming.—A friend of the writer, resident on a farm near Bathurst [New Scuth Wales] had received from England a set of musical glasses; and one afternoon he arranged them on a table and arternoon he arranged them on a table and proceeded to play upon them. The door of the room opened upon the back yard, in which, at a distance of ten or twelve yards, was a wheat-stack. With both arms reached across the table, he had played some time, when he became annoyed by receiving repeated blows on the leg, which he for a tin disregarded, thinking they proceeded from h dog. For awhile he played on, occasional hrusting at the supposed animal with hi knees, to make him move further off, when i gave him a harder blow than usual until a length surprised at the animal's persistence, and at the rapidity and number of the strokes he received, he paused and looked over his shoulder, and there witnessed a most extraor-dinary sight. Erect on a coil of its tail, spinand body to and fro, and evidently in a state of the most ecstatic delight, was a huge snake. The blows had proceeded from the folds of its body, as it danced hither and thither close to the chair of the unconscious musicing. It did not steep its state of the unconscious

The Army and Navy Gazette, indeed, asserts that the military expenditure alone will be reduced by an amount which will enable the Chancellor of the Exchequer to remit two-sence of the income tax. There will, it is said, be a decrease in the land forces of something over 5000 men, but the promised something over 5000 men, but the promised saving will mainly be effected under the head of "warlike stores," for which £2,000,000 was voted last year. The proprietor shortly appeared; after the convulsions of laughter at the grotesque appearance had sufficiently subsided to make him to speak his added this if to enable him to speak, he asked Mike if that was the way they put on saddles in the old country. A sudden gleam of intelli-gence shot across the honest face of the Irish-man, as he burst out with the air of one who had discovered a secret: "Faith, yer hon-or, an' sure I didn't observe which way the horse stod." horse stood."

A GAROTTER SHOT IN NOTTINGHAM.— Between 12 and 1 o'clock on Wednesday morning, Mr. Addlesee, boot manufacturer, was crossing the Carrington-street bridge, near the Midland Railway Station, when he perceived two suspicious looking men follow-ing him. He quickened his pace and tried to evade them, but when he got near to the Queen's walk one of the men attacked him, nd the other came ap immediately. Addlesses had taken the precaution of carrying with him a pistol charged with small shot, and springing away from the men, turned round and shot one of them in the face. The man recled for a second or two, and then decamped with his companion. The men have not yet been apprehended.—Times. Why are the makers of the Armstrong gu

To the Independent Electors of the City of Victoria. GENTLEMEN,-YOU WILL SHORTLY BE

TO

GENTLEMEN,—YOU WILL SHORTLY BE called upon to exercise the most sacred rights of Britons, in selecting men of your own free will to manage your own local affairs, scrutinize and correct the course of Government, and adjust and impose taxation. While I feel that I have no especial claims to public support, I do claim, it common with my fellow citizens, that I have embarked my capital, brought my family, and expended some portion of my past energies here; and that in a new country like this I have a right to aspire to a position in the management of its public affairs. I do not seek any office of emolument—I have never done so, nor is such my aira now. I am content to carn my living independent of Crown patronage; but the honor of roprescuting my fellow citizens is a distinction which any man might be proud of, and I aspire to that. I hold the equal rights of all men to be of the first importance in all cases of legislation, and know no distinction of creed, color, or country. Every colonist who has settled in this Colony is his future home, is entitled to equal privileges with his regished.

with his neighbor, and for such principles I will always contend.

Heaven has given us a fine climate, a good harbor, a neutral position as the cutrepot to a great part of Washington Territory and British Columbia; and in the present condition of American affairs so situated that with a Finis Pour and No Dent of any amount, we can supply a great share of the Pacific const cheaper than they can possibly be supplied from elsewhere.

I am fully alive to the advantages we possess, and it is my anxious desire to forward our interests, particularly railroad and harbor enterprises; to watch and guard against corruption and misgovernment; to see that equal rights and cheap ad-and guate sgarms corruption and misgo-ernment; to see that cqual rights and cheap ad-ministration are preserved; that law costs and law-yers are looked after, without permitting to them exclusive privileges or business monopolies; that the merchant, tradesman, mechanic and artizan is protected and supported; land granted free, or at nominal rates to actual settlers, with a view to encourage that important interest; secculators and land jobbers checked and frustrated, and that the all-pervading rule of Government efficials, dabbling in mines, town sites and public lands, may be abolished.

in mines, town sites and public lands, may be abolished.

There are many other public questions of great importance upon which I will speak hereafter, as they cannot be referred to within the limits of this address, but if you see fit to henor me with your confidence and support, you may rely that for neither inducements of office or patrouge, no printing or other jobs will pass without exposure. And should it not be your pleasure to cleet me, I will support cheerfully whonsover you think If to cleet, so long as they follow a line of policy similar to that I have here laid down.

I have the honor to be Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
EDWARD BEATTY EARLES.
